Forward

In order to have a written record of the happiest days of our life, to recount the activities and accomplishments of those outstanding among our number, to show what goes on inside the walls of the old high school, we edit this book. We do so in the hope that our spirit will always be in keeping with the spirit of those pioneers for whom we named our "Vigilante." It is also our hope that the next "Vigilante" will come from a class who have the pleasures and benefits of a new high school.

Dedication

For more than half a century there have been pupils attending the Helena High School in order to get a foundation for further education or to be able to go out into the world and find their place among the best. The school has served well in its time, but now the numbers have outgrown it. We hope to have a new school. Therefore, we, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred and thirty-four dedicate this annual to the old school as a small tribute to show the appreciation felt for the benefit the school has been to us and to others before us.

Nature never did betray
The heart that loved her; 'tis her privilege
Through all the years of this our life, to lead
From joy to joy; for she can so inform
The mind that is within us, so impress
With quietness and beauty, and so feed
With lofty thoughts, that neither evil tongues,
Rash judgments, nor the sneers of selfish men,
Nor greetings where no kindness is, nor all
The dreary intercourse of daily life,
Shall e'er prevail against us, or disturb
Our cheerful faith, that all which is
Is full of blessings.

TINTERN ABBEY—Wordsworth.

To him who in the love of Nature holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language; for his gayer hours
She has a voice of gladness, and a smile
And eloquence of beauty, and she glides
Into his darker musings, with a mild
And healing sympathy, that steals away
Their sharpness, ere he is aware.

THANATOPSIS—Bryant.

Officers and Members of the Senior Class:

With the exception of the year 1925 the High School annual has been issued in its present form for about fifteen years. The Vigilante has, at least, two important objectives. First, as a High School activity it affords a very practical and valuable experience to those who edit its pages; second, it has great value, as a book of memories. We have often said that if a student in High School purchased a copy of the annual for each of the four years he would, at the time of his graduation, possess a four-volume history of that four year period. It is our ardent hope that the Vigilante staff of 1934 will prepare an annual as excellent as those we have had in other years and which will then serve fully the above important objectives. This hope is expressed more especially at this time when we are, perhaps, saying an affectionate farewell to the "Old High School Building" around which have gathered so many pleasant and inspiring memories. In the meantime may you all achieve a very successful and happy life.

Sincerely yours,

ALBERT J. ROBERTS.
Principal of High School.

STUDENTS OF THE HELENA HIGH SCHOOL,

GREETINGS:

In the Vigilante of last year, the hope was expressed that a modern new high school building be provided in the near future. At this time, we appreciate the enthusiasm and the action on the part of our citizens which made it possible to supply this urgent need. This is another evidence of the interest of this community in the educational welfare of its boys and girls. Let us hope that nothing prevents the completion of the splendid new buildings now anticipated and that another year will bring the educational opportunities and advantages which the new building will provide and which you have so long desired and deserved.

Sincerely yours,

R. O. EVANS,
Superintendent of Schools.

Valedictory

Those four long years of High School life are swiftly drawing to a conclusion—four years of diligent studying; four years of extensive learning during which we have ebbed and flowed through the massive portals of that old feudal looking building of gray stone. Maybe we are glad to get out, but I can't help thinking, as Aeneas once did, that "perhaps some day even these will be pleasing to remember."

Possibly many years from now you and I shall no longer live within sight of that School, but "it will be pleasing to remember." We shall close our eyes and think of a little town at the foot of the great Rocky Mountains. Within that town there will be the old High School; unique, singular in its medieval architecture; warm and heart-touching with the friends found there, the teachers and principal; jolly and diverting with thoughts of pranks and comical incidents. Our hearts and minds will feast and imbue themselves in these fond remembrances. We shall wish we could again live over those days; we shall be dreaming.

Dreaming—a soft entrancing word! To me its sound is suggestive of its meaning. It is a most restful and entertaining pastime. There isn't any physical motion, and the mind, too, is at peace. It is a pure flight of the imagination.

Even the other day my imagination took such a flight, and soon I was 'all wrapped up' in a dream. As dreams usually are, it was in a peculiar setting, and the whole was rather misty. The sky instead of being blue was more like one great rainbow—with all the colors and tints merged and intermingling. Under this polychrome dome was a great lake, and on the shore at the head of a pier stretching into it was an image of our High School. Around the pier were one hundred and fifty-three small canoes. Soon there was a stirring, a hustling, and the canoes were fitted out for a long journey. Amid the sparkling spray of splashing paddles each glided forth, realizing that the time had come for him to "paddle his own canoe." Some, after leaving the pier, were content to float around in the lake; others started paddling their canoes up the many inlets. Each inlet had its own characteristic scenery. Along the banks of one were typewriter trees and dictaphone bushes, and the stream flowed with "words" and "short hand." One of the other streams was filled with the fragile glassware of the chemist, and great trees of structural formulas arched over it. Another was strung with high voltage wires, and such things as dynamos, armatures, and motors lay in the way. There were numberless other inlets to this boundless lake, and the scenery of each was reflective of its character.

The canoes had to be carefully manned, for the turns were sharp, and hidden rocks were always ready to play havoc with the unwary ones. To make progress against the swift currents the canoe-men had to paddle constantly. Those who paused too long to rest without anchoring found themselves drifting backwards toward the great lake from whence they started.

Just then the scene changed, and, as the mists rose, I beheld that most of the canoe-men had pulled up into sheltered coves, where they were peacefully enjoying themselves among the luxuriant foliage of their desired professions.

Suddenly my imagination reached its highest point and fell; the dream unfolded and abandoned me, dreamless, in a world of realism. But now as I think of that dream, I think of you; of how I have to get in my canoe, and you in yours; and of how I have to say farewell to you and to the parents and teachers who helped us build our canoes. I have to paddle my canoe, and you have to paddle yours, but let us hope that we all will steer straight and always be wary of rocks.

EDWIN HAHN.

Salutatory

To us, the many young men and women graduating from high school this year, pessimists cry that this is the unwanted generation—that there is no room for us.

It is true that the worlds from which we must choose a means of livelihood are overcrowded, but the people who now occupy these fields are the people guilty of the cause of our present difficulties. Upon our abilities and training, then, lies the task of changing the conditions of today, if possible, in such a way that future generations need not suffer any handicap.

The task of rebuilding our world politically, economically, and morally, is a momentous one, one with many ensuing hardships. It is also, however, a glorious opportunity; this fact cannot be fully understood until we realize the metamorphosis such reconstruction requires. Many phases of our life must be changed, must be looked at in a new light. It is for us to do this changing, or to support those who do it; it is for us to educate ourselves and posterity with new principles of living.

The success of such a program depends on the education which has been given us and which we can acquire in the future. The basis of any future accomplishment of ours depends, however, on the basic education which we have just completed and which some of us will further at college. We are hesitant on the threshold of so great a task because we are appalled by its hugeness, because, for the moment, we fear to leave the safety of the known for the unknown, and because we doubt our fitness for the undertaking.

However, we can face the future with more confidence on account of the training we have received in this school. To the faculty of the Helena High School, therefore, we give our sincere thanks for their patient efforts in our behalf.

JEAN VAN SICE.

Class President's Speech....

We have come to the end of a four-year voyage. Together we set sail and together we have weathered the storm, out-riden the waves, and successfully reached our destination.

From here we must part and venture upon on various ways alone. Perhaps we shall never meet again, but no matter to what distant ports we travel, we shall always look back with pleasant thoughts and tender memories to the days we were sailing together.

To our parents who have made our voyage possible by their sacrifices, and our journey a happy one through their never ending kindness, we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation.

We are extremely grateful to the business men who assisted us by their wholehearted cooperation in our many activities.

To the faculty it is with regret that we must say goodbye. Through our four years, their everlasting patience and thorough understanding has caused us to look upon them with deep respect. May we carry their teachings with us when we embark upon other voyages and may these voyages be as full of happy memories as this one has been,

ROBERT MacDONALD WHITTINGHILL.

Class Poem

Wings Against the Sky

I—WHEREIN THE WINGS ARE YET UNSTABLE.

Ours is the story of the golden eagle,
The golden eagle and her brood of young . . .

Far to the north of the thunder mountains is a valley of firs that sing in the darkness.
High above the firs is a cliff of crystal —larger than the moon, higher than the stars—
but higher still was the golden eagle.
(The golden bird had wings of thunder.)

Long ago on the sun-baked prairies
it drank in the music of the booming sweeping of the herds. And deeper in the mountains, where the blood-like mallow spills its sanguine fountain through the fern,
it smoothed out the roaring waters.
—his wings were thunder,

his beak was a prism of moon-soaked amber,
his claws were arcs of polished copper . . .
Thunder, amber,—tear and plunder,
his eyes were discs of moss-ribbed agate.

On the highest cliff was a nest of reeds rimmed with moon-shaped melon seeds and the thin, flat pods of water weeds.
Here on his aerie, twice as high as the first blue mist of the earth-folks sky sat the bird of might—the golden eagle;
the golden eagle and its brood of young
(the bird that attempted to reach the sun.)

Days on end the sun rose taunting flashing his cloak in the nest of the eagles, and the eaglets gloated at the clinking fringes of smooth clam shell with rose-daubed hinges, but the sun would slide across the sky—
into the pine and the thick fir shrouds, into the soft rolled thunder clouds that boiled like slag from the blue plateaus . . .
. . . mocking, jeering, sank and rose . . .

Ten long moons the eagle waited watched the eaglets swell and triumph
Golden feathers arching—spreading
While the wings grew stronger, wider
And the sun rose higher, higher

II—THE ATTACK.

THUNDER; the slap of snake-skin drums;
the fife-like shriek of storm wind in the reeds
the elemental symphony has risen high.
The patter of the wind-whipped tortured weeds
swells and dies into silence

Night is born prematurely,
And from their nest, lithe and posed,
like new-wed warriors, the birds
poise, pirouette,—pounce, and dive into the sky.
Up to the smooth, lapis-lazuli dome,
far beyond the smallest of the clouds.
The world is terrified and numb,
the foam upon the seas is scum.

III—CHAOS

(Flute music weaves among the words—tom-toms in distance.)

See—see—high—the glossy platter of the sky;
The sun—ah! Run—
Ah, moved in a clutching, slimy net—
No, wait—but only a moment yet—

(clouds belch forth and the sky is covered;
the earth is flooded with liver colored light.)

CHAOS

(the light breaks through)
What soars and pitches so—like shining snow.
Falling like leaden rain
to the kind earth below?
the eagles . . . falling . . . falling . . .

A few of them have heached the sun,
the rest have fallen, life span run—
Their bodies plummet one by one—
The birds are falling . . falling . .

(trumpet music)

This, the story of the eagles is the story we may tell you when our aerie is forgotten
Some will gain the sun of noon time,
Some will fall like dying meteors,
Some will sink to nest, too weary to be bothered with adventure—
Who will fall, and who will conquer?
We know not—nor should we know it.

EAGLETS—HI!—THE SUN IS RISING!

MA^HHTON ISTOPIA

O Clio, Muse of History, tell of the four great eras of the "Stone Age," the life and experiences of one of the many clans, the feasts and dancing, and of the leading clansmen. Of this, O Goddess, daughter of Zeus, speak as thou wilt to us.

After the early Pre-Historic Age of passing through the eight centuries of Grade School, there came another period, the "Stone Age"—the Age of the old stone prison." During the first part of this "Stone Age" a great clan was formed (for lack of a better name they called it the Clan of XXXIV). As is the policy among clans, an early meeting was held, and Bob Whittinghill was elected Chief Club-Hurler. In case the Chief Club-Hurler ate too much and had to stay at home another member of the Clan, Arnold Anderegg, was detailed to take his place. The job of counting the salt fell to Edgar Barnes and that of writing the Hieroglyphics on the stones fell to the secretary, John Sutherland.

Near the end of January of the first era of the "Stone Age" a dance was held for the members of the 8A Clan who were to be taken into the great "Clan of XXXIV." Some of the members were interested in the harmony of sounds and took part in a contest at the Livingston Metropolis, clan members Hansen and Pfeiffer running off with some of the awards.

The Clan broke up during the summer months, everybody picking up and going wherever he pleased. But as the summer drew to a close, the members were again united. Almost all of the old ones came back; some new members, lost from other clans also came; a few had wandered too far and never found their way back.

During the next era the Clan was struck by a great epidemic of a terrible disease called Sofmorelaziness, and the offices of Chief Club-Hurler, Salt Manager and Hieroglyphic executive were left vacant. Even at that the members had become acquainted with the "hard stones" of the "Age" together with certain tricks of the "Age" learned from the other clans in whose activities and celebrations they associated freely.

The Clan dispersed for its second summer and again was re-banded together in the fall. The terrible epidemic was thoroughly wiped out during the summer, and the Chiefs of the Clan were duly nominated and elected. Two members were so good at playing with the pigskin that they were put on the All State Pigskin Team. The various Clubs prevailing in the "Stone Age" were wielded by many of the members of the Clan of XXXIV—the Smock's Club, the H Club, the Glee Club. During this third era the Clan took part in its greatest social activity—a Promenade given by the Clan of XXXIV in honor of its predecessor, the Clan of XXXIII. It was held at the Temple of the Shriners and drew a large crowd of revelers and dancers.

The next era was a great era, for after it was over, the great Clan of XXXIV with its one hundred fifty-three members died and passed out of existence. The last Chiefs were quietly elected. A great feast at Ye Old Placer Tavern was given—the entire Clan was there; "Bobby," the God of all Clans, was there; all the Muses from the Muse of English to the Muse of Physics were there. It was an elegant feast and was followed by a night of revelry and dancing. On the fourth day of May the Clansmen partook for the last time in the great annual pageantry which was held in memory of their daring, westward roving ancestors. On H Day the masterful symbol of the "Stone Age"—the great letter H on the steep and rugged slope of Mount Helena—was venerated by the awesome Clansfolk.

The wheels of time swiftly turned, bringing the solemn festivals of Baccalaureate and Commencement, which concluded the existence of the mighty Clan of XXXIV in the "Stone Age." Although the "Clan" may have died on the memorable night of Commencement, the memory of that "Clan" lived forever in the hearts of the Clansmen.

Class Will

We, the Class of '34 of Helena Hi-School, being of sound mind, do publish and declare this to be our last will and testament.

1. The Seniors leave their privileges and responsibilities to the Juniors with the admonition, "Don't Do Anything We Wouldn't."

2. We the Class of '34, leave our sincere thanks and deepest respect to the Faculty and Principal of Helena Hi-School.

3. Milton Johnson leaves his way with the women to anyone foolish enough to think he needs it.

4. Horace Kleve and Lloyd Hayes leave Glenda Spaulding and Altha Schaefer to comfort each other.

5. Sam Mitchell and Harriet Davis leave the job of holding up this ancient building to Jayne Tuttle and Art Wilson.

6. June Skinner leaves her intelligence to the Hi-School at large.

7. Ethel Richardson leaves her giggle to Edith Tongren.

8. Clifton Stebbins and Florence Waterman leave part of their acting ability to Dorothea Casper, and the rest to whoever Miss Eaker thinks needs it.

9. Betty Cummings and Bill Korizek leave a few spare inches to Albert Angstman to eliminate the danger of his being stepped on.

10. Jennie and Mary Goodman leave the hope that in the future twins attending this school will be considerate enough to be different.

11. Bob Langorne leaves to Milton Coutu a standing permit so that he won't use so much time going to the office.

12. Mary Corr leaves her chatty disposition to Cidney Munn.

13. Marian Becker leaves her prerogative of giving monologues to Violet Albright.

14. Edwin Hahn leaves a few superfluous brains imagination for thinking up plausible excuses for skipping to Hope Galusha.

16. To Betty Schuyler, Betty Fallon, and Sam Roberts, Donald Burns and John Strong leave space in the new building for the confabs now held on the tile floor.

17. The Class of '34 leaves its splendid record as an ideal to which other classes may vainly strive to attain.

18. Jean Shumate, Betty Dehler, Eula Mae Hall, and Jack Houston leave their parking space to Morris Rudio, Gordon and Winton Herrin, and Ray Wine.

19. Elizabeth Topping leaves her air of boredom to Ann O'Connell.

20. Bud Mulvaney and Denise Flint leave their three-year-old affair to D. Kelly and D. Strong.

21. To Belle we leave our latest invention—a machine that automatically issues and collects permits.

22. Lee Drake and Nina Pittman leave Henry Loble to comfort himself as best he can.

23. To Mr. Albertson the Senior History students leave the hope that some day some class will know how to study.

24. Ruth Hansen leaves her capability for always looking busy to Robert Zbikowski, hoping that he will make use of it.

25. We, the authors, leave our headaches to the writers of the Will of the Class of '35.

We, the undersigned, on the fifth day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred thirty-four, do hereby testify as to the legality of this, the last will and testament of the Class of '34.

The Helena High School Football Team for the season of 1933 made its initial appearance against the light scrappy Manhattan team for an easy victory of 32 to 0. Coach Fiske used his second and third teams throughout the game. The first team played three minutes in which two touchdowns were scored.

September 30th. Helena met Anaconda there to play one of strongest elevens in the state. The game was close until the final quarter when Strong punted 80 yards out of danger and four plays later raced 80 yards around end for a touchdown. Johnson, Whittinghill, Pippy and Connor played good defensive and offensive ball. The score was 6 to 0 in our favor.

October 7th. Helena 30; Gallatin 7. Reversing the tables from last season, Helena's Crimson Bengals earned a sweet revenge when they swamped the boastful Gallatin Hawks by a beautiful score at Legion Park. Strong and Captain Whittinghill lead the touchdown parade with a brilliant show of footwork while the Helena line held the giant Bozeman crew. Coach Fiske substituted freely after the first half, giving the green material a chance for development.

October 14th. The Bengals fought an uphill battle at Kalispell, bucking a high wind and dust storm to defeat Flathead 13 to 6 for its third conference victory and western district elimination contest.

Fryett Morrie

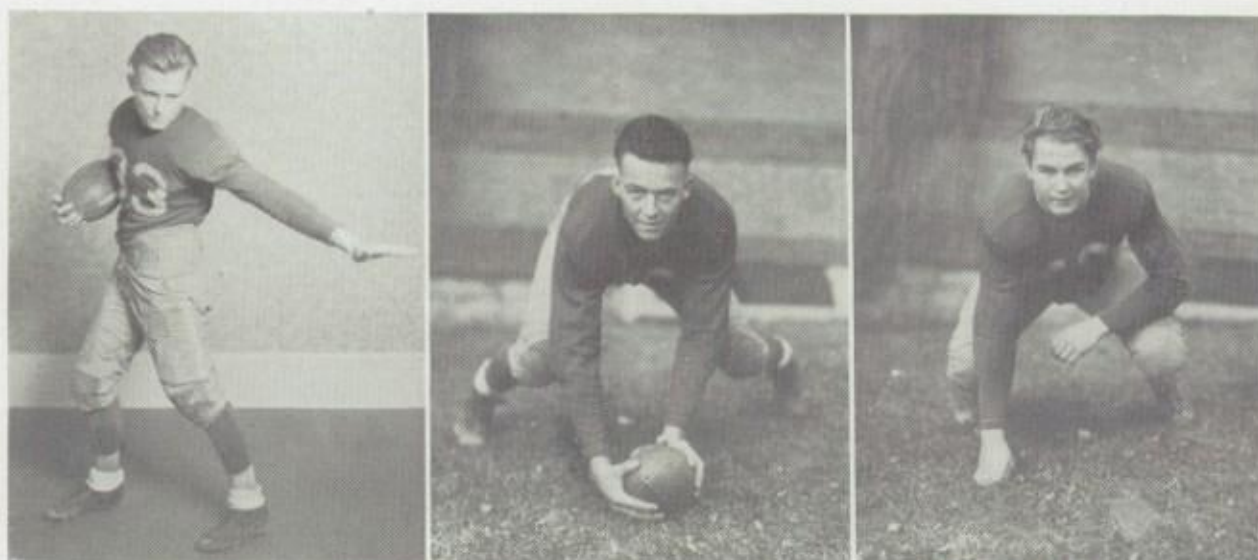

Out-played throughout the game, the Helena team fought hard and stopped Kalispell on the Bengals' goal line three times. It was not till late in the last quarter that Helena scored its winning touchdown from the mid field.

October 21st. Helena 13, and Great Falls 7.

After two weeks of rest the Bengals traveled to Great Falls to play their best ball of the season. Playing in weather below freezing, the Bengals felt the soft turf freeze to a rock under their claws which made it hard to get footing for power plays and causing the backs to slip before getting started.

Great Falls scored its touchdown on a freak play unknown to football history and took the Helena team by surprise. Fryett was the outstanding factor in the Helena team scoring both touchdowns and working reverses for gains. Archibald, Rottler, and Rudio did some nice defensive work.

November 11th. Helena 7 and Missoula 12. The Bengals' brief reign came to an end at the hands of the alert Missoula gridders. The defeat saw Helena lose its chance for the Big Fourteen Championship and the chance to win the Western District championship. It was a brilliant game and both teams played clean upright football. This game closed the football season for the year.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

December 15th. Helena made an initial appearance against a large scrappy Broadwater team to win by a score of 41 to 33. The team played ragged at times but showed signs of promise.

December 21st. Helena 20 and Miles City 22. Playing hard basketball but a little ragged with their passing shots, Helena dropped a hard game to the well-coached Custer County Cowboys. This was the first Big Fourteen contest for the Bengals before the holidays.

December 29th. Helena took its second basketball game of the season from a scrappy Manhattan team by the count of 36 to 16. The team looked rather ragged and well filled with that old plum pudding from the holidays.

January 5th. The Great Falls Blue Bisons proved too much for the Helena Bengals and won a Big Fourteen Conference victory by a score of 39 to 17, but in the return game February 10 Helena scored over them 20 to 17.

January 6th. Apparently unable to hold their stride at any stage of the game, the Helena team fell victim to the Fergus County Golden Eagles with a score of 33 to 3 in a Big Fourteen Conference.

January 12th. Helena 14 and Anaconda 30. Helena gave a better showing in a contest with a powerful Anaconda team that later took the state championship. Although outplayed, Helena showed signs of life and it looked as if the Helena team is beginning to snap out of it.

January 20th. Showing a complete reversal of tactics, Helena defeated the Butte Central Maroons 18 to 13. This was the second Big Fourteen victory for Helena. Helena won the return game by a score of 23 to 22.

January 26th. It was a gala day when Jerry Archibald led the Bengals to victory over Bozeman by 34 to 33. Helena won a return game with Bozeman February 16 by a score of 28 to 23.

February 24. Helena battled Missoula to take the second game by a score of 31 to 21. Helena lost to them on the return game, 17 to 9.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls had a good season of basketball and played many games.

Those who turned out were:

First String

Florence Dickey
Elizabeth Baldwin
Eileen Dignan
Ruth Egnew
Zudora Williams
Evelyn Hillman

Marjorie Burns—Manager

The girls also played tennis last fall and got up a tournament which was won by Ernestine Annas.

Some volleyball was played too last winter.

TRACK

Helena trained a track team of seven men but four of them dropped out before the meet in Missoula. Strong tied for fourth in the pole vault. Also second in his heat in the one hundred yard dash. He tied for sixth in the one hundred yard dash finals. Won the two-twenty yard heat, and fourth in final of two hundred yard dash.

Fryett came in second in the one hundred and twenty yard high hurdles trials. He placed fifth in the one hundred and twenty yard high hurdles final.

Rickert won third place in the four-forty yard trials.

Activities

THE BOYS' H CLUB

In order to belong to this club the boys must earn their letter in some sport such as track, football or basketball. One of the main events of the year is the severe penalty the boys have to pay in order to become a full-fledged member after their letter is earned. This club helps to pay the bills of the injured in sports by giving dances and raising money in other ways. They also have charge of the fire drills in the school.

GIRLS' H CLUB

The past year has been prosperous and successful for the girls' honorary athletic club. The club organized at an early date and elected: Peggy Mason, president; Evelyn Hillman, vice-president; and Marjory Burns, secretary-treasurer. Meetings were held during the year which was culminated by a picnic at Alhambra. To belong to this club 500 points must be earned in basketball, volleyball, baseball or tennis. A trophy is to be given to the girl most deserving in sportsmanship. She will be voted for by the other members of the club.

GIRLS' HI-Y

The Girls Hi-Y had a very successful year. The annual Mixer was held October 27, 1933, and was a great success. It is presented in order to introduce the Freshmen to the upperclassmen. At Christmas the Hi-Y donated to the Red Cross. At Thanksgiving the girls gave baskets to the needy. To climax the year a banquet, something new in Hi-Y, was held at the Montana Club, May 2, 1934. A delightful program was given and the new officers were installed. During the school year luncheons are held every other Wednesday at the Y.W.C.A. The officers are: President, Evelyn Walden; vice-president, Frances Odion; secretary, Violet Beatty, Emma Mason; treasurer, Merle Lyndes.

GLEE CLUBS

In October the Girls' Glee Club held a picnic on Mt. Ascension.

On December 17 the girls made their first appearance, singing several selections for the Community Concert held in the Presbyterian Church.

Before the Christmas holidays the clubs enjoyed a party during which time carols were sung and refreshments served. During the girls' class a number of guests were present. At the same time, a collection of fruit, vegetables and canned goods were taken for needy families. Clothing for children and adults and toys were donated and turned over to the Montana Children's Home.

May 1 the Glee Clubs gave a public concert at the Consistory Shrine Temple which was filled to its capacity. It was a program made up entirely of American songs. Both the girls and boys appeared in two groups of songs. One of the boys' groups was a cowboy scene with songs in costume. The program ended with the combined Glee Clubs singing three numbers. Afterwards Miss Keane entertained the members of the two clubs at an informal dancing party.

As their last get-together the two Glee Clubs held their annual spring picnic before the close of school.

THE NUGGET

The 1933-1934 Nugget functioned without a sponsor, and was edited by Bill Raney, who served in that capacity during the entire year. Although the number of papers issued throughout the year was somewhat smaller than in previous years, the material printed seemed to have a wider appeal to the student body than in former years.

A pie and candy sale was held under the supervision of Betty Dehler and Merle Lyndes to help finance the expenses of the paper. The annual Nugget banquet was held this year and deemed a success.

SMOCKS CLUB

Smocks Club, the dramatic organization, had an interesting and unusual year. Due to the increase in size of the club the constitution was amended to allow more active members to be enrolled.

All drama students may be associate members and nearly everyone strives for active membership and a chance to wear the white smocks with the dramatic emblem on them. To be an active member a student must be outstanding in at least one public performance or three Smocks Club programs or serve well on several committees.

This year the first and only honorary member, Archib Bray, Sr., was taken into the Club. It was done in appreciation of the help and advice he had rendered the dramatic department in the past and which we hope to have him do in the future.

The first program of the year was unique in that it was entirely directed and acted by graduate members and it was the first meeting ever held in September. The last program of the year revived the old custom of having a vaudeville for the last meeting. A clever black-out skit and a Floradora quintet carried away the honors of the evening. A dancing number, a boys' chorus, and some popular songs also shared the limelight. As usual, though, the program consists of three short one-acts.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

This year "The Torch-Bearers" by George Kelley was the choice of the Senior class for their annual play. It was presented May 25 in the Shrine Temple Auditorium. The success of the play was due largely to Miss Eaker's able and clever directing. Everyone taking dramatics enjoyed producing it.

The theme of the play was amateur theatricals and what goes on behind the scenes at their production. The cast included:

Mr. Frederick Ritter	Bob Whittinghill
Mr. Huxley Hassefrasse	Roland Schaefer
Mr. Spindler	Clifton Stebbins
Mr. Ralph Twiller.....	Charles Mulvaney
Teddy Spearing	Bud Kahla
Mr. Stage Manager.....	Dick Crosby

Miss Florence McCricket.....	Florence McKay

And last but not least are those whose names are not obtainable now, the committees who function back stage.

LITTLE THEATRE TOURNAMENT

The Little Theatre Tournament sponsored by the Masquers, dramatic association of the Montana State University, and held at Missoula every year, again played an important part in the affairs of Helena High School. Besides placing in the semi-finals Helena's entrant came through and won first place, for which we again received the silver loving cup.

"The Robbery," by Clare Krummer, was well chosen by Miss Eaker for presentation. It is a very unusual and amusing comedy which deals with a chest of family silverware. The cast included:

This is the second time Helena has won first place in the Little Theatre Tournament, and it really is quite an honor for the competition is very keen and there are many contestants.

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

This year for the first time the dramatic department has a real studio of its own located in the old art department of Central School. Due to the smallness of the studio the fall program of one-act plays ran for three evenings, December 18, 19, and 20. All scene building and costuming that was necessary was done in the studio. This was a great saving on expense.

The program opened with "Bimbo the Pirate," a Romance of Adventure, by Booth Tarkington. The story centers around Bimbo, the Pirate Captain, who allows no immorality or bad conduct on board his ship and on Sunday it is unheard of. The cast included: Bimbo (the captain), Bob Harned; Robert, Frank Pippy; Lydia, Florence McKay, Clara Carlson; The Gunner, Gene Robertson; Driscoll, Allen Shumate; Pirates, Art Trent and Bill Wheatley.

The second play was a modern comedy entitled "The March Heir." It was very cleverly and interestingly written by Babbette Hughs. This story is based on the poet Mr. March, and how his fame affected his son. The clever acting and directing did much for the play.

The players in "The March Heir" were: Jefferson March III (a boy of twenty-three), Bob Whittinghill; Dick Carmen, Ray Johnson; Marion Carmen, Joyce Rathbun; J. Newton MacDougal, Bud Mulvaney; Mrs. Rogers, Elizabeth Baldwin; Mrs. Judd, Florence Waterman.

The third play was a Christmas pantomime. The giving of different gifts by different classes of people formed the theme of the play. It made a fitting conclusion to a program given so near Christmas time.

The cast included two Freshmen boys, Joseph Montgomery, the Jack in the box, and Albert Angstman, the lowly man's son, who were small enough to fit the parts. The rest of the players were: The Wonderer, Bill Wheatley; The Prologue, Jessie Bennett; The Pages, Nita Pitman, Margaret Burns; Major Domo, Bob Fletcher; The Queen, Eula Mae Hall; The Princesses, Lois Haines and Carolyn Batch; The Lowly Man, Art Trent; The Rich Man, Herbert Watts; Rich Man's Servant, Clifton Stebbins; Haughty Lady, Dee Duncan; Humble Woman, Lila Johnson; Strong Man, Bob Harned; Dear Child, Florence Dickey.

HIGH SCHOOL WEEK

Helen sent several delegates to Bozeman for representation. They were: Jean Van Sice, Norman Murray, Evelyn Walden, Ethel Richardson, Merle Lyndes, Violet Beatty, and Edwin Hahn. Dorothea Casper entered the extemporaneous contest there after winning the district and two preliminaries.

TRACK MEET

More Helena students attended the track meet this year than ever before. Margaret Burns entered the declamatory contest there and won third place.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The tenth of January a Chemistry Club organized for the purpose of talks and experiments by student members on topics of interest, most of which are of popular and practical use. The average membership is about forty, and any high school student taking or having taken chemistry can belong. The club meets every second and fourth Thursday of the month. The officers are: Tom Sweeney, president; Edwin Hahn, vice-president; Fern Aagaard, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Dietmeier, advisor. The members are Edgar Barnes, Jessie Bennett, Mary Callaway, Dorothea Casper, Florence Evans, Mary Goodman, Jennie Goodman, Edwin Hahn, Lloyd Hayes, Donald Higby, Margaret Hunter, William Korizek, Bud Lippert, D. Loughridge, Dorothy Manley, Emma Mason, Darwin Mayfield, Sam Mitchell, Edna Overose, Chase Patrick, Edna Pitt, Thelma Sime, June Skinner, William Sparing, David Strong, Tom Sweeney, Fern Aagaard, Howard Armstrong, William Barworth, Bristol Bentley, Robert Fromm, Louise Goodno, James Graham, Ina May Hand, Jack Houston, Virginia Larson, Raymond Lay, Merle Lyndes, Robert MacDonald, Maxwell MacInness, Jay McLeod, Dye Ogata, Fred Orton, Elmer Peterson, Jack Phillips, Emil Polich, Katherine Pool, Ethel Richardson, Clifton Stebbins, Arthur Wilson, Lynn Wood, Bruce McAdams, Arthur Barnes, Ray Conn, Bill Davies, Ruth Flynn, Joe Geier, Carolyn Hasey, Mary Lacey, Norman Lieberg, Jack Mitchke, Frances Odion, Yvonne Picotte, Don Smith, Betty Stewart, Sylvia Strandberg, Angeline Young, Sam Mitchell, Merle Lyndes, Bob Smith.

GERMAN CLUB

A German club was formed in the first week of April. The members are pupils in the German classes, but membership is also open to former German pupils.

The club is a social group which was organized in order that the pupils may enjoy German games, plays, and songs. German history and literature are also discussed.

Meetings are held in the music room on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Officers of the club are Fred Orton, president; Carl Ortloff, vice-president; Jim Cumming, secretary.

The members now belonging to the club are Arnold Anderegg, Betty Batch, Pauline Becker, Archie Bray, Buddy Brown, Esther Chriske, Lucille Clinton, Jim Cumming, Violet Fabian, Richard Foote, Norma Hay, Helen Heidel, Henry Hibbard, Harry Keil, Kenneth Kellogg, John Kovich, Eugene Lieberg, Edgard Lockey, Luella Merz, Bob Miller, Dye Ogata, Fred Orton, Carl Ortloff, Bill Raney, Leonard Reinig, Bud Schaeffer, Thomas Sweeney, Dean Tuttle, John Van Winkle, Evelyn Albright, Violet Albright, Richard Lockey.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club was organized under the supervision of the Home Economics instructor, Miss Esther Bowman, in 1932. The club programs were arranged on an educational, philanthropic, social and recreational basis. This was at first organized on a purely social basis. The meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

Some of the things which the club has done are to mend the football sweaters and hold several candy sales and prepare a box for a needy family.

A member of the club was chosen as a delegate to Bozeman.

The members of the club are: Ina Hullander, Marjorie Loughridge, Dorothy Wood, Evelyn Allen, Katherine Reppas, Maybelle Lee, Vivian Carpenter, June Cooper, Ruth Walker, Lida Chadwick, Kathleen Merrill, Lydia Sampson, Lila Schroeder, Katherine Buckmiller, Harriet Greene, Ethel Buchanan, Marian Fenn, Yvonne Moody, Ada Carpenter, Hilda Lamb, Bernice Vantura, Helen LaMoure, Stella Kaiser, Olive Hodgson, Naomi Dove, Barbara Hodgson, Genevieve Reppas, Margaret Gresh, Mary McKelvey, Helen McKelvey, Margaret Kivillin, Virginia Vantura.

FRENCH CLUB

The first meeting of the French Club was held in Mrs. Stinson's room Thursday, March 29th. The following officers were elected: President, Elizabeth Bowers; Vice-President, Betty Fallon; Secretary, Jay McLeod; Treasurer, Mary Callaway.

The club meets the first and third Thursdays of each month.

The object is to promote the speaking of the French language and to study the French people and their customs.

Four committees were appointed for programs, music, publicity, and research.

The last meeting was held Thursday, May 24th. The program was held completely in French. The members of the club are Sidney Munn, Jay McLeod, Margaret Fisk, Ruth Flynn, Elizabeth Bowers, Hope Galusha, Mary Callaway, Josephine Jones, Milton Dagenais, Minna Winestine, Jane Eby, Betty Fallon, Ruth Kemp, Jean Sheriff, Wendell Brooks, Henry Beyer, Ethyl Cornell, Mildred Davis, Florence Evans, Dudley Billett, Morley Cooper, Melan Aleksich, Philip Dolan, Helen Porten, Marjorie Burns, Charles Harrell, George Williams, Lenore Thomas, Josephine Williams, Robert Fromm, George Poitras, Jean Shumate, Charles Bowers.

THE LATIN CLUB

At the beginning of the second semester of this year, the Latin students under the leadership of the Virgil class and under the supervision of Miss Greene organized a Latin club, the purpose of which is to furnish to students especially interested in the subject a source of profit and entertainment and an outlet for originality and ingenuity. The club is organized on the pattern of the Roman state and derives its name, the S. P. Q. R., from "Senatus Populusque Romanus." This year the officers are: Consuls, Henry Loble, Lawrence Brewer; Aedile, June Skinner; Censor, Ernestine Annas; Quaestor, Jean Van Sice; Permanent Program Committee, Jayne Tuttle, Philip Blumenthal, Gordon Christiansen.

THE SPANISH CLUB

This year a Spanish club was organized by those taking Spanish or those who had taken Spanish. This club meets every second and fourth Tuesday of the month. The purpose is to acquire as much speaking knowledge of the language as possible and to become familiar with the Spanish customs. The officers are: Jay McLeod, president; Beatrice Cox, vice-president; Marian Becker, secretary, and Alberta Dance, treasurer. The members are: Rose Bryson, Jenny Goodman, Mary Goodman, Lois Haines, Lenore Hoffman, Weston Hopkins, Betty Mae Johnson, Margaret Johnston, Ruth Kemp, Emma Mason, Jean Shumate, June Skinner, John Snyder, David Strong, Arthur Trent, Kathleen Merrill, Ruth Nader, Maxine Crittenden, Carl Ortloff.

AERONAUTICS

January 26, 1934, the end of the first semester of the school year, the first class in aviation in Helena High School completed a two-year ground school course in aeronautics under the instruction of Mr. L. W. Fahrner, instructor of this class, and the supervision of Mr. Fred O. Robinson, director of Vocational Education.

This is a Smith-Hughes day unit trade preparatory class meeting four hours daily, one hour of which is a lecture period and the remaining three hours devoted to shop and field practice.

The standards set as requirements for admission into this class are very high. Each boy must have maintained a minimum average of eighty-five in English, Shop, Mechanical Drawing, Algebra, Geometry, and Science.

This gives the boys interested in aviation some practical training in that field before they ever leave High School, for they are overhauling, repairing and working on planes in actual use, and this work must be inspected and approved by inspectors of the U. S. Department of Commerce. Also all recommended graduates of this course will have an opportunity to secure work with the Boeing Airplane Co. in Seattle, the largest airplane factory in the world. Helena High School is the only high school in the entire Northwest offering a course in Aeronautics.

Those taking this course in aviation are: William Kaiser, Bud McNerney, Ed McNerney, Bill Roddy, Lauren Bonnell, Virgil Ferrat, Fred Buckmiller, Bill Korizek, Dee Loughridge, Sam Mitchell, Walter Tipton, Jerald Archibald, Douglas Payne, Mark Hopkins, Lloyd Loughridge, Frank Scheewe.

AUTO MECHANICS

For the first time, a course in auto-mechanics was offered this year to the Juniors and Seniors showing special aptitude for this vocation, and those with an average above eighty-five in Shop, Mathematics, Mechanical Drawing, and Science.

The course consists of a one-hour lecture period and three-hour shop practice period. Supplementing this theoretical and practical training through the most excellent cooperation of several of the local garage owners, the boys are "farmed out" at regular intervals in these garages to study the actual every-day conditions arising, thus enabling them to get true conception of the daily cross-section of this industry as well as affording a most efficient screening process for the boy in wisely choosing a vocation.

Those taking the course are: Don Allen, Jack Balkenhole, Lewis Brackman, Sam Begovich, Ira Cutler, Cecil Day, Clinton Englund, Chester Featherley, John Gage, Jack Houston, Jerry Kennedy, Bruce McAdams, Peter Nick, F. M. Peterson, Bernard Phillips, John Routzahn, George Schneider, Harold Treverrow, Charles Duke, Andy Johnston, Cliff Beyer, Stanley Kufeld.

Society

THE JUNIOR PROM

The climax of the school social calendar was the Junior Prom on May 19, 1933. This dance was given by the Juniors in honor of the Seniors according to precedent.

The hall was very cleverly decorated to represent a scene in Mexico.

Dancing was enjoyed to the rhythmical music of Hugh Dunlap. The climax of the evening was attained at ten o'clock, when the dancers formed into a Grand March led by the class officers.

At twelve o'clock the dance terminated, and the crowd left satisfied by an enjoyable evening and enjoyment of this year's Prom.

THE SENIOR BANQUET

The Senior's annual banquet was held at the Grill Room of the Placer Hotel on January 25, 1934. Members of the class and faculty gave interesting talks on various organizations of the High School. There were also several different skits. The most entertaining feature of the evening was the "Floradora Chorus" given by eight boys of the class.

After the entertainment at the Placer, the group went to the gym where they enjoyed themselves by dancing.

THE NUGGET BANQUET

In spite of the day being Friday, April the thirteenth, the Nugget Staff held their annual banquet at the Brady Tea Room.

A clever program was presented supposedly from a broadcasting station. Later the members of the staff with their escorts enjoyed dancing at the gymnasium.

GIRLS' HI-Y MIXER

The Girls' Hi-Y Mixer dance was held at the gymnasium to enable the Freshmen girls to become acquainted with other girls.

Many dexterous ideas for costuming were carried out by the girls. The dancing was enjoyed until midnight when everyone diverted to different places for refreshments.

"H" CLUB DANCES

The Boys' "H" Club opened the social affairs of their year by giving a dance at the gym. Bob Towle and his five tadpoles furnished very pleasing music.

Several "H" Club dances followed which were equally enjoyable to the crowds.

AVIATION DANCES

Throughout the year the Aviation Class gave three successful dances. The first one was held in January. The gym was decorated with model airplanes made by the class. The music was furnished by the Seven Sharp Shooters who gained popularity through their moonlight waltzes.

At the other two dances the gym was decorated by lighted model airplanes. The music of Jimmie Smith delighted those present.

The Vigilante Parade

For the past eleven years one of the greatest events of the high school year has been the Vigilante Parade which is put on by the students. In this parade the days of the Vigilantes live again for an hour. From the very beginning it has been a great success and has been enthusiastically supported by everyone in Helena and also by the people from places close to Helena. Each year the merchants and stores have donated prizes for the best floats, old fashioned ladies, novelties, Indians, cowboys, etc.

We feel that we can truthfully say that each year the parade is "Bigger and Better" than it has ever been before. This year there was an added incentive to make the parade the best it has ever been. A sum of twenty-six dollars was donated by the employees at the Capitol. This was divided into prizes called the "David Hilger Prizes." Twelve dollars of this was given as sweepstakes which went to George Fryett for a very original float depicting buffalo hunting. Every phase of life in vigilante days was successfully portrayed. The pioneers of those days who are still living led the parade. All of the entries in the parade were so well worked up that it would be futile to start to tell about any of them here, as one would lead to another and so on and on until there was enough to fill a whole book.

The parade owes no small part of its success to the different committees which were as follows:

During the afternoon the Broadwater plunge was open and many of those who participated in the parade spent the afternoon there.

To put the finishing touch on a most successful day, a big dance was held that evening at the gymnasium for all high school students. During the evening the prizes were announced and awarded. And so ended another Vigilante Parade which once again was "Bigger and Better" than ever before.

BAND MEMBERS

ORCHESTRA MEMBERS

Helen Crayon, Rolland Breed, Carl Ortloff, Norman Lieberg, Dorothy Hagler, Dudley Billett, Charles Smith, Geraldine Hood, June Cruttenden, Margaret Dunn, Marjorie Larson, Eugene Lieberg, Jack Hoon, Clifton Stebbins, Carl Pfeiffer, Rolland Schaefer, Darwin Mayfield, Minnie Schaeffer, Freeman Bruce, Lynn Wood, Fred Orton, Herbert Breed, Theodora Johnson, Milton Brown.

Although the band and orchestra have not taken any trips this year, they have taken an active and important part in community affairs.

For the most part the band and orchestra have been combined as one. Under the fine direction of Mr. Henry Reinshagen, they have added fine music to the Boys' and Girls' Glee Club Concert which was held at the Coonsistory Shrine on May 1.

The band added much to the Vigilante Parade, May 4, with their gay and tuneful marches.

On May 10, the combined band and orchestra gave a concert at the Consistory Shrine. The concert was well received by a large and enthusiastic audience, and altogether was a great success.

As a final participation in the affairs of the school the combined band and orchestra played their beautiful and inspiring music for Commencement on June 7, 1934.

1. 'Twas only yesterday.
2. This is not the wreck of the Hesperus.
3. A little Ray of sunshine.
4. Don't you believe it?
5. Our cowgirl artist from Montana.
6. How did you do it, Top?
7. Girls, that twinkle looks as if you'd been skipping.
8. Where's Doug?
9. The office "force."
10. Tsk! Tsk! It's lucky they graduate.
11. Two of a kind.

Oh yeah!

1. Jack-in-a-box.
2. He should have done it long ago.
3. Is that how you do it!
4. Them were the days!
5. Spring comes but once a year.
6. Hasn't changed a bit.
7. The Physics class.
8. Not bad. Eh!
9. Great stuff, this advertising!
10. It MUST be a teacher.

1. Who'd a thunk ut!
2. See page 14.
3. And he still plans on farming.
4. She looks like Colleen Moore.
5. Is there a man in the crowd?
6. Is the coast clear?
7. You know Peg and Milt are graduating!
8. Girls wear 'em.
9. Our Standby.
10. Some of the fellas.

1. A little of that goes a long ways.
2. Where's Loble?
3. Why do men prefer blonds?
4. The long and the short of it.
5. Before the days of permanents.
6. Here's Houle!
7. She must have been ten.
8. The druid and the spring.
9. Betty Dehler.
10. They say he's reformed.
11. How many times a day have I told you to sweep up this walk?
